Florida Public Safety Institute

Course Description: This law enforcement-based Ground Control Instructor course focuses on law enforcement takedowns and ground fighting/grappling techniques that are beneficial for law enforcement officers. Most use of force encounters end up on the ground and having the skills and confidence to control and safely detain a combative subject is imperative. The curriculum of the seminar is designed to comply with federal and state use of force laws. The training focuses on techniques for transitioning to control and handcuff positions in a systematic manner, followed by how to respond if the suspect continues to resist and the fight goes to the ground. The specific training topics covered in the seminar include takedowns, team takedowns, ground control and defense, team ground control, small and confined space subject control, contact communication, handcuffing, de-escalation, and weapon retention.

Our training is systematic and designed for officers to learn and retain. Additionally, training will occur both with and without duty gear to show the how the gear and help and hinder these techniques.
